READING IS GOOD FOR YOU!

Reading improves memory and cognitive ability. When you read or listen to stories, visualize the characters and scenes, and feel the emotions of the characters, your brain releases the "feel good hormone".

This hormone, dopamine, is the primary driver of the brain's reward system. It spikes when we experience something we enjoy. There are plenty of books in this catalog to provide you with many pleasurable dopamine hits.

Choose from your favorite categories, but be adventurous and explore other genres as well. You might find a few precious gems.

FEATURED AUTHORS

Erika M Szabo

Author of epic fantasy, historical suspense, cozy mystery, supernatural, sweet romance, and bilingual books for children 2-14.

WEBSITE

I inherited my dad's artistic talent and my grandma's love for storytelling. My parents didn't have time to listen to my childish babbling about magic wands and dragons, so my early audience included Meow, my cat, Pepe, my duck, and Maci, my St. Bernard. Later, I told my fantasy stories to anyone who was willing to listen.

"As an artist, I paint pretty pictures with my brushes, and as a writer, I paint vivid pictures with my words."

Lorraine Carey

Author of paranormal fiction, adult romance, YA and children's books

WEBSITE

Lorraine Carey is not only a paranormal enthusiast, but has had many unexplained events in her lifetime and has used these as a focal point in her fiction novels. Most of Carey's books were written during the course of nine years while living in the Cayman Islands with her. She continues to write and is planning on joining up with a paranormal investigative team. Her empathic abilities seem to attract the spirits giving her even more motivation to continue writing.

Cindy J. Smith

Author of poetry, short stories and children's poetry

WEBSITE

Cindy has written poetry to try to understand the people, the whole world, around her. By sharing them, she hopes her words will touch people's hearts and give them a view of life they may have never tried or have simply forgotten. Several of her poems can be found in online magazines, blogs, books by other authors, and international poetry anthologies. Currently, she has 11 poetry books and one children's book published.

A.L. Butcher

Author of fantasy, romantic fiction, and gothic style horror.

WEBSITE

British-born A. L. Butcher is an avid reader and creator of worlds, a poet, and a dreamer, a lover of science, natural history, history, and monkeys. Her prose has been described as 'dark and gritty' and her poetry as 'evocative'. She writes with a sure and sometimes erotic sensibility of things that might have been, never were, but could be.

Eva Pasco

Author of contemporary women's fiction

MORE

Midlife restlessness prompted a retired elementary education teacher to rekindle her passion for storytelling. Although Eva Pasco has published Nonfiction, she prefers writing in the genre of Contemporary Women's Fiction. Her award-winning "lit with grit" is distinguished for its character-driven plots featuring female protagonists propelled by the nuances of their human condition. Whenever Eva can break away, she enjoys day tripping along Rhode Island's coastline where her favorite pastime is walking the shore at any season or time of day.

Alan Zacher

Author of private investigator mysteries, humorous occult fiction, fantasy adventure fiction, and short stories.

WEBSITE

"My writing has always been for entertainment--to put a smile on someone's face who might be having a bad day. I write, mostly, light-horror and murder/mystery. I like these two genres because of the freedom they give me to explore man's inner emotions, feelings and emotions--but it must always have humor! We must always laugh; mostly at ourselves. I have had MS for several years now; I know physical and mental pain; so I need much laughter to endure it. Hopefully, my novels do just that--give you much laughter."

Frank Talaber

Author of fantasy, thrillers, and suspense

MORE

"Write like your soul is on fire and the pencil is your voice screaming." You don't have to be mad to be a writer, but it sure helps. Writer by Soul. A natural storyteller, whose compelling thoughts are freed from the depths of the heart and the subconscious before being poured onto the page. Literature written beyond the realms of genre he is known to grab readers; kicking, screaming, laughing or crying and drag them into his novels. Canada's Foremost Off-Beat author, Frank Talaber.

Slate R. Raven

Author of supernatural thrillers

WEBSITE

Started writing just before a debilitating spinal injury. He chose writing to purge the turbulent emotions of being a prisoner of one's own body. Many novels emerged while sitting under a laptop computer, a generous gift from his father. Being new to the world of publishing he was caught by the lure of a substantial check by what turned out to be a crooked publisher. After over 15 years of litigation, Slate pulled all his previous work; to this date he remains an independent author and is no longer trapped by his spine.

Ned Williams

Author of romantic & erotic poetry

By the time I stopped letting my ego outrun my intellect and gained some actual life experience; I had discovered that being a writer and being a bad ass are not mutually exclusive. It's a special magic that allows a writer to combine the best, or worst, of people encountered in his life into characters that tell a story readers can relish and enjoy.

Cheryl R. Lane

Author of historical romance

MORE

Author of the historical romance Wellington Cross Series, the paranormal romance Angel Series, and the new historical romance Wellington Patriot Series. She has been an Indie author since December 2012. Her book, Sunrise Kisses, was a finalist in the 2018 Golden Quill Award Contest sponsored by Golden Box Books Publishing. She grew up in East Tennessee and moved to Virginia Beach, Virginia. Cheryl enjoys gardening, walking, traveling, reading, taking pictures, and spending time with family and friends.

Victoria Roberts Siczak

Author of Science-fiction, fantasy, paranormal phenomena, futuristic dystopian

WEBSITE

Victoria is a storyteller with the unique ability to blend science-fiction, fantasy and mystique, with realism, spiritualism, and historical actualizations. Her own intrinsic character portrays a distinctive mystique in her writing and her life. Victoria lives in the southeast and enjoys reading and writing almost as much as she enjoys spending time with her family and friends.

S.W. Frontz

Author of women's fiction/crime/mystery

S.W. Frontz | Facebook

S.W. Frontz is the author of the award-winning Land's End Series. She published her debut novel, When the Morning Comes in 2016. S.W. has been married to Rusty twenty-seven years and they are the proud parents of furbabies Pinky, a ginger cat, and Alex, a grey and white cat. S.W. loves to read, take pictures (her book covers are her own photographs) and play bingo.

Kojo Bey
Author of non-fiction
MORE

Kojo Bey's first book: JEMBE REVOLUTION is the first to congregate so many different voices in one publication to tell this story. He co-founded Nevada's first African performing group, CODAME; co-founded SOUNDS OF AFRIKA African Drum and Dance Troupe; and founded Drums 4 Life (based in Charlotte, North Carolina). Kojo has fulfilled African drum and dance contracts for various Fortune 500 companies, community-based organizations.

ROMANCE BOOKS

Two basic elements comprise every romance novel:

A central love story and an emotionally satisfying and optimistic ending.

In a romance, the lovers who risk and struggle for each other and their relationship are rewarded with emotional justice and unconditional love.

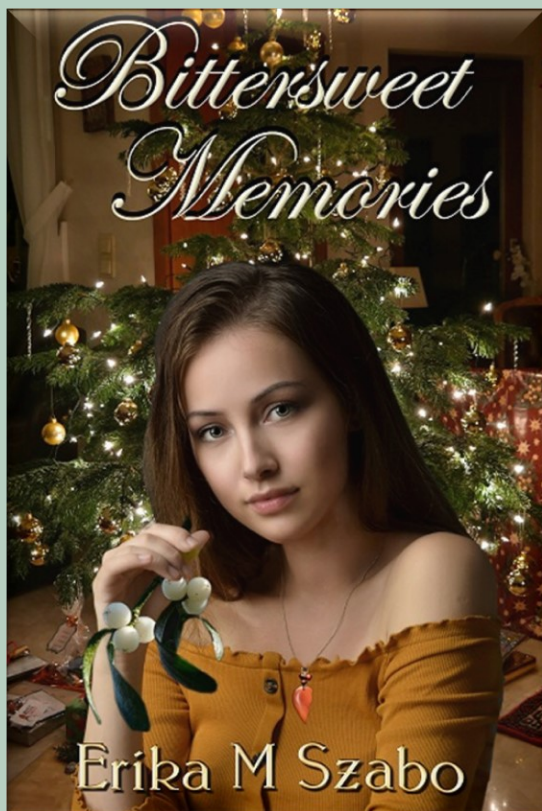

Mild romance: love story without steamy sex scenes

Contemporary Romance: Takes place in the author's contemporary time period.

Historical Romance: Takes place at least 30 years in the author's past.

Paranormal Romance: Contains fantasy elements.

Erotica: Plot revolves around sex.

Sweet romance

Growing up in foster homes, Elana couldn't make emotional connections with anyone. Until she met Luca. Cruel fate allowed them a short happiness and tore them apart. Will they meet again?

MYSTERY THRILLER SUSPENSE

Mystery is a type of fiction in which a detective, or other professional, solves a crime or series of crimes.

Cozy Mystery: A low stakes mystery set in a small town. A crime fiction that gives readers a chance to delight in vicariously solving a murder—without graphic violence or sex.

Suspense is the intense feeling that an audience goes through while waiting for the outcome of certain events.

Detective/Private Investigator: Classic mystery novels where the protagonist is either asked to or volunteers to solve a crime or series of crimes.

Police Procedural: A police detective following the law to solve a high stakes crime. Typically, graphic in its descriptions of violence.

Thriller: Features a high stakes plot that elicits anxiety where the goal is often to prevent a crime versus solve a crime.

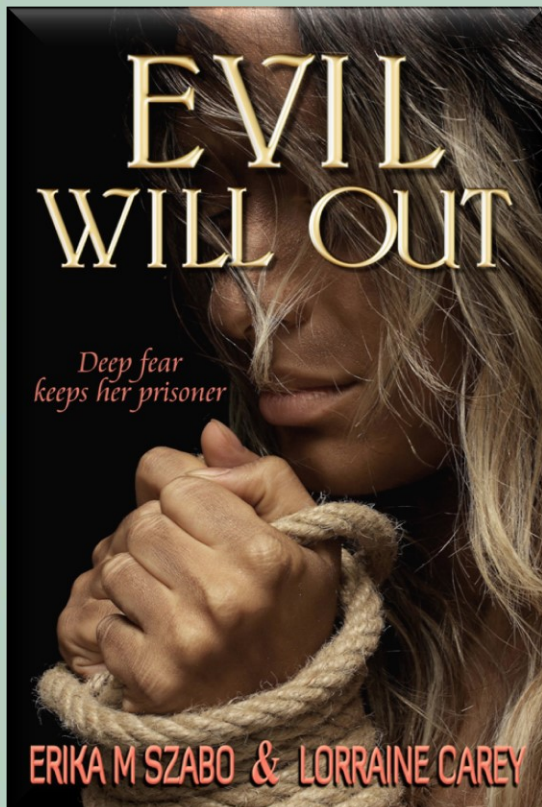

Noir: A stylized mystery with a cynical protagonist.

Private investigator mystery

Tom Mayor is a 56-year-old unemployed alcoholic tells his mother as a joke that he is going into the private detective business. The next morning, his mother finds Tom his first client, Claire Peterson, a dying elderly woman next door. Claire wants to know the truth about her great-granddaughter's murder and Tom is just the man for the job. To prove his newfound skill, Tom discloses the killer. Failure, frustration, and near-death do not deter Tom as he solves the case, in Thin Man style.

PARANORMAL SUPERNATURAL HORROR

Paranormal Fiction Genre

Books in the paranormal fiction genre are set in the real world, but they include experiences that defy scientific explanation. For example, stories set on earth that include things like angels, demons, ghosts, psychics, vampires, etc.

The supernatural genre includes ghosts, vampires, werewolves, demons or even comic book characters with supernatural powers. And while most supernatural stories are scary, some are not, like the romantic films "Ghost" or "Ghost Town." Structure your approach.

Horror is a genre of speculative fiction which is intended to frighten, scare, or disgust. Literary historian J. A. Cuddon defined the horror story as "a piece of fiction in prose of variable length... which shocks, or even frightens the reader, or perhaps induces a feeling of repulsion or loathing".

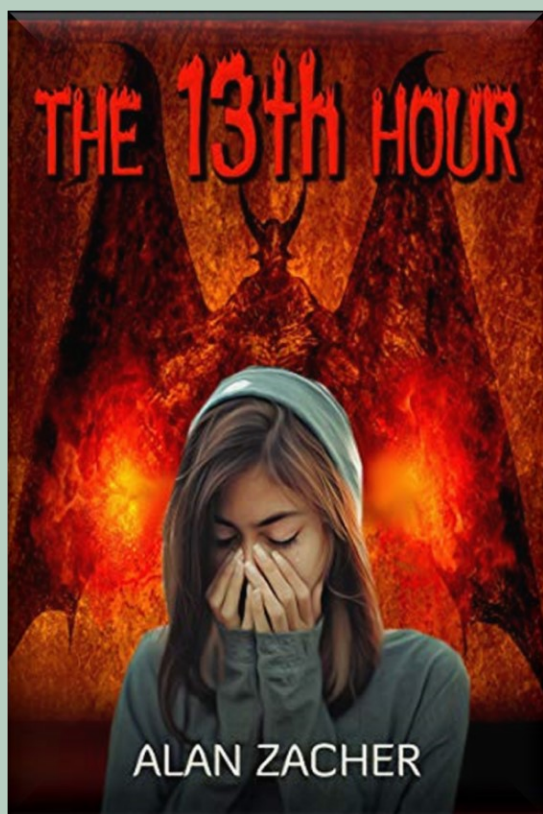

Cozy supernatural thriller

Lauren has everything she'd ever wished for. Great career, financial security, loving husband, and devoted friends.

FICTION

Literary fiction:

Aside from subject matter, literary fiction tends to be written with emphasis on prose style. While genre fiction is “transparent” (readers can see through the text to escape into the story itself), literary writers want the reader to notice how beautiful the writing is.

Women's fiction:

An umbrella term for women centered books that focus on women's life experience that are marketed to female readers and includes many mainstream novels or woman's rights Books. It is distinct from Women's writing, which refers to literature written by (rather than promoted to) women.

Dystopian literature is a form of speculative fiction that began as a response to utopian literature. A dystopia is an imagined community or society that is dehumanizing and frightening. A dystopia is an antonym of a utopia, which is a perfect society.

Science-Fiction

Catastrophic events have occurred throughout the Pacific Ocean region known as the Ring of Fire. Scientists, spiritualists, mystics and naturalists strive to find the causes for the Earth imploding, exploding and cracking itself open from the inside. For every conception, perception and religious theism there is the underlying consideration of what is known as pantheism, the indwelling spirits of the supernatural domain. Consider the possibility that these occurrences are not random acts of nature, and the elementals impose their fury at injustices by eliminating the threat of mankind! EBOOK PRINT

NON-FICTION SHORT STORY ANTHOLOGY

Non-fiction includes history, memoir, biography, philosophy, health and wellness, cookbooks , education, reference books.

Poetry can be divided into further genres, such as epic, lyric, narrative, satirical, or prose poetry.

A short story is a piece of prose fiction that typically can be read in one sitting and focuses on a self-contained incident or series of linked incidents, with the intent of evoking a single effect or mood.

An anthology is a collective work that is completely made up of material from other authors. Anthologies can contain numerous poems, shorty stories, essays, and other documents. The person who puts together all of this information into one anthology is called a compiler.

Poetry and Short Stories

What if life really is just a bowl of lemons? What if there are no cherries, just pits?

This collection has stories as well as poems offering my view of the world I see before me when I am not wearing my rose-colored glasses.

Short stories

A collection of heartwarming animal stories, fun anecdotes from the author's nursing years and about friends, and slice-of-life tales about family lives and love that evoke a wide range of emotions. There are several stories within this collection that explore the best - and the worst - of humanity. We are reminded that not everything, or everyone, is what they appear to be and that the best things in life are often surprises.

Poetry

Ever want to get a second opinion on life? Well, Cindy has had voices giving her theirs all her life. With straight talk and sarcasm, they rhyme their views to her. In this first book of poetry series, Jasmine's Wish, she offers you a glimpse of the path she has been traveling while seeking her way in this world.

EBOOK PRINT

Poetry

In this second book in the Jasmine's Wish series, Cindy's voices continue their relentless sharing of their opinions. Touching on many of the emotions and life situations humans encounter, they offer their viewpoint in the hopes of finding the path to peace. At the end of the book, Cindy has shared a small section spotlighting the works of her angel daughter, to whom this book is lovingly dedicated for her Birthday.

Poetry

After being alluded to many years ago in Rhymes Through Time, I have completed QUIET! Please?. This selection of poems is arranged in categories as are the first two books in my "Jasmine's Wish" series. My voices have been writing poems for my entire life. Their constant jabbering is taking its toll. Despite my begging and pleading for quiet, they keep talking. Come on over and see how they can write about anything at any time. The categories may be set, but the topics are as varied as grains of sand.

Poetry

Life is too short to get stuck in a rut. Luckily for me, the voices show me many different views of the same situation so that is never an issue. Despite their varied revelations, I am relieved they've finally begun to give me moments of peace. (Perhaps it is because I forced them to work everyday last year.) Whatever the reason, I do enjoy the quiet even though I miss them when they are gone. When they do return, I am still amazed that after all these years their rhymes are still unique blendings that reveal truths I never noticed.

Poetry

This third poetry book by Cindy offers a sample of her first two books as well as a future book. You will not find sex, violence, blood or gore, and nor will you find vampires, zombies or ghosts. You will find poems about fleeting and elusive moments captured in rhyme through the sands of time.

In this fourth book of poetry from Cindy, we are again taken on a life journey. This time we float along like an Autumn leaf on a breeze, pausing here and there before catching the wind and flying once more. Each stop is a unique view of life and the world before us. Come on in, and see if you can catch the words on the wind.

This collection was created from my 2017 New Years Resolution. Seeing and hearing various remarks about the new year being "a clean slate" and that "each day is a new page in life write something fresh" inspired me to vow to write a poem everyday. I do write almost every day, so I challenged myself to collect the very first poem, no matter the topic, as the day's offering. No theme was involved, everything was fair game. I wanted to be able to look back and see if perspectives really do change daily. I offer everyone a ride on this poetic rollercoaster, where life changed at the speed of a turned page. SLIPPING INTO DARKNESS

Erotic poetry

Slipping Into Darkness is about the love we feel and the loving we share. It's an attempt to describe with words the journey taken in each other's company which starts as a treat for the eyes and becomes a feast for one's soul. It is certainly a good thing when "experience brings forth appreciation from what was, originally, a purely visual fixation".

The words on these pages exist because of the feelings awakened when the desires aroused between lovers sets the passion they share.
